PATIENT EMPOWERMENT IN A NEW ERA OF CANCER

SUPPORTED EDUCATION ACTION

Dear Friends of The Wellness Community,

As we find ourselves surrounded by change and empowered by the possibility of what is to come, we are pleased to have this opportunity to reflect on our programs and services for people touched by cancer in this 2008 annual report. At The Wellness Community, we understand that the next 5 to 10 years will be critical for America's health care system. Many key issues will reach a tipping point, including decisions and actions around insurance coverage, reimbursable care, clinical research, drug development and approval, preventive medicine, wellness, and end of life care. All of this will directly impact the quality, affordability and accessibility of cancer care across the continuum. There is also an awakened public interest in health care in general and in cancer issues specifically, and a more focused public and private sector interest in cancer and wellness, especially considering the disproportionate burden that the disease places both on individuals and on the health care system as a whole.

In addition, in 2007, The Institute of Medicine (IOM), part of the National Academies in Washington, DC, released a report called, "Cancer Care for the Whole Patient: Meeting Psychosocial Health Needs." This report is a defining affirmation of the work we do everyday at The Wellness Community. The report states that, "Americans place a high premium on new technologies to solve our health care needs. However, technology alone is not enough. Health is determined not just by biological processes but by people's emotions, behaviors, and social relationships." The report goes on to say that "...good quality health care must attend to patients' psychosocial problems and provide services to enable them to better manage their illnesses and underlying health. To ignore these factors while pouring billions of dollars into new technologies is like spending all one's money on the latest model car and then not having the money left to buy the gas needed to make it run."

All of these factors are leading to a new era in health care in general, and in cancer care specifically. An era where all patients must be educated and empowered and armed with the tools and resources to navigate an ever-complex health care system. An era where we pay attention not only to patients but to their caregivers who are bearing an enormous burden that is still unrecognized in our society. An era where we throw our full energy and resources behind the IOM report to ensure that all patients have access to social and emotional support and a system of care that recognizes the human side of the cancer experience. And an era where people are not choosing between health care and basic human needs such as food and shelter.

After working diligently over the past 27 years with great passion and focus, The Wellness Community remains committed to providing support, education and hope for people with cancer and those who care for them. Our services are now offered at over 100 locations worldwide and online at www.thewellnesscommunity.org. Earlier this year, The Wellness Community also announced the launch of The Wellness Community's Cancer Survivorship Research & Training Institute which is scheduled to open in 2010 in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

The time has come for the more than 12 million cancer survivors living in the United States today and their caregivers to become empowered and demand the health care system change to better address the needs of all people touched by cancer.

Best wishes,

Kim Thiboldeaux
President and CEO

THE WELLNESS

*Founded in 1982,
The Wellness
Community is an international,
non-profit organization that provides support, education
and hope to people with cancer and those who care for them.*

The Wellness Community

Founded in 1982, The Wellness Community is an international, non-profit organization that provides support, education and hope to people with cancer and those who care for them.

By providing free professionally-led support groups, educational workshops, nutrition and exercise programs, and stress reduction classes, The Wellness Community helps individuals affected by cancer learn vital skills that enable them to regain control, reduce isolation and enhance their quality of life.

The Wellness Community firmly believes that partnership and collaboration are critical ingredients to success. Therefore, we work with academic and medical partners to conduct evidence-based research and provide training in the field of psychosocial oncology with the goal of improving outcomes and quality of life for cancer patients, cancer survivors, and the individuals who care for them. The Wellness Community assists individuals affected by cancer at over 100 locations worldwide including 24 U.S.-based and 2 international centers, 73 satellite and off-site programs, and online.

- In 2008, The Wellness Community reached more than 300,000 people living with cancer and their loved ones
- The Wellness Community conducted more than 14,000 professionally-led support groups and distributed more than 40,000 Patient Education booklets in 2008
- Since 2006, The Wellness Community Online received more than 2.8 million hits from over 600,000 unique visitors

COMMUNITY

The Wellness Community Vision

To establish The Wellness Community model as the gold standard of psychosocial support for people affected by cancer.

The Wellness Community Mission

To help people affected by cancer enhance their health and well-being through participation in a professional program of emotional support, education and hope.

The Wellness Community Patient Active[®] Concept

“People with cancer who participate in their fight for recovery along with their health care team will improve the quality of their lives and may enhance the possibility of their recovery.”

EMPOWERMENT THROUGH SUPPORT EMPOWERMENT THROUGH SUPPORT EMPOWERMENT THROUGH SUPPORT

For over 27 years, The Wellness Community has been dedicated to providing free support, education and hope to people with cancer and their loved ones in the following ways:

- Face-to-face support groups
- Online support groups
- Educational workshops
- Nutrition and exercise programs
- Stress reduction classes
- Social activities

TWC Expands Its Reach to Provide Support for Caregivers

The Wellness Community is pleased to announce that it was recently awarded a $2.4 million grant from the National Philanthropic Trust's Breast Cancer Field of Interest Fund. The grant will be used to create and launch a comprehensive program for the caregivers of women with breast cancer. The program will introduce the CARE Active concept, similar to The Wellness Community's hallmark Patient Active™ concept. The CARE Active concept recognizes that caregivers can enhance health and wellness for themselves and their loved ones through and beyond the cancer experience. The multi-faceted education and public awareness campaign will empower breast cancer caregivers with essential tools to be more effective in caring for themselves, their loved ones and their relationships.

The Balancing Act: Tips for the Cancer Caregiver

On June 24, 2008, The Wellness Community announced the release of its first exclusively caregiver focused book, The Balancing Act: Tips for the Cancer Caregiver. The book features personal stories of caregivers across the country and tools for individuals just beginning their journey as cancer caregivers. The book is part of the growing movement to empower cancer caregivers in their journey to be more effective, reduce their own distress and find hope.

- The Balancing Act: Tips for the Cancer Caregiver, is an extension of The Star Campaign, an initiative launched in 2007 that enables patients and survivors to recognize and share the stories of their Stars—their caregivers
- The book was launched on national TV by Star Campaign spokesperson, Diahann Carroll
- Diahann Carroll was interviewed by over 30 stations and the show was aired in over 2,000,000 households

The Wellness Community Online Receives Silver Award at the 2007 eHealthcare Leadership Awards

During a special presentation at the Eleventh Annual Healthcare Internet Conference held November 4–6, 2007 in Las Vegas, The Wellness Community Online received the Silver eHealthcare Leadership Award. The award recognizes the very best websites of health care providers, health plans, health care associations, online health companies, pharmaceutical/medical equipment firms, suppliers, other health care organizations, and business improvement initiatives. The award also aims to highlight the internet’s role in achieving an organization’s business objectives and recognize the hard work that has gone into creating outstanding health websites.

The Total Cancer Wellness Guide Awarded the National “BEST BOOKS” 2007 Award

The premiere online magazine and review website for mainstream and independent publishing houses, USABookNews.com, offered praise for The Total Cancer Wellness Guide by announcing it was the recipient of the “Best Books: 2007” Award in the Health: Cancer category.

Co-authored by Kim Thiboldeaux, President and CEO of The Wellness Community and Mitch Golant, PhD, health psychologist and the Senior Vice President of Research & Development for the organization; the book uses evidence-based research, first person testimony, and professional guidance to lend support and offer hope for those who are affected by cancer. The book highlights true stories of inspiration and hope from cancer patients and caregivers around the country, and includes tips, evidence-based research, treatment, and support information.

TWC Launches a New Frankly Speaking Program

On March 15, 2008, The Wellness Community of Delaware co-hosted the official launch of the national program, Frankly Speaking About Colorectal Cancer, by offering a free workshop for people with colorectal cancer and their loved ones. Attendees heard from a panel of colorectal cancer survivors, as well as the following guest speakers:

- Dr. Bruce J. Giantonio of Abramson Cancer Center of the University of Pennsylvania
- Jean Capser, LCSW, OSW-C of the Helen F. Graham Cancer Center

Created in collaboration with the Colorectal Cancer Coalition (C3), Frankly Speaking About Colorectal Cancer provides information on treatments, symptom/side effects, social and emotional challenges, and survivorship issues specific to people with colorectal cancer.

Frankly Speaking About Cancer

The Wellness Community is pleased to announce the launch of Frankly Speaking About Cancer, the first Internet talk radio show on the VoiceAmerica™ Network's Health & Wellness Channel focused specifically on how to live a better life with cancer. Hosted by Kim Thiboldeaux, President & CEO of The Wellness Community, the program, which first aired on September 9, 2008, features patients, physicians, researchers, social workers, business leaders, and caregivers with whom listeners can connect and draw inspiration. Previously aired shows include:

- Coping with Cancer and Improving the Quality of Your Life
- Cancer Survivorship: Your Treatment is Over. Now What?

Strides for Hope Teams from Around the Country Participate in California's Big Sur International Marathon

Once again, Wellness Communities from around the country came together to participate in Strides for Hope (SFH), a charity marathon training program for which participants raise money and awareness for The Wellness Community programs and services.

Bright and early on Sunday, April 27th, 2008, participants from eight Wellness Communities prepared themselves for the Big Sur International Marathon in Monterey, California.

- The 189 Striders had the option to walk, jog or run while enjoying the breathtaking view of the northern California coast
- There were 51 cancer survivors that participated
- Collectively, teams received donations from 44 states and 8 countries around the world, resulting in more than $545,000 to benefit Wellness Communities throughout the United States

Breakaway from Cancer

For the third year in a row, The Wellness Community participated in the Breakaway from Cancer (BFC) initiative created by Amgen, Inc. The campaign is a complementary component to the company's title sponsorship of the Amgen Tour of California (ATOC), a professional cycling race, and is dedicated to raising awareness and funds to support the valuable services and programs provided by TWC and fellow beneficiary, The National Coalition for Cancer Survivorship (NCCS).

- From February 17–24, 2008, TWC traveled over 670 miles and had the opportunity to connect with tens of thousands of spectators who came out to support the sport of cycling and enjoy the Lifestyle Festival

2008 National Leadership Conference

From November 5–8, 2008, leadership from Wellness Communities across the country convened in Indianapolis, Indiana for the 2008 National Leadership Conference. This year's conference focused on the 2007 Institute of Medicine Report, Cancer Care for the Whole Patient: Meeting Psychosocial Health Needs.

Conference attendees used the annual meeting as an opportunity to enhance and promote TWC's comprehensive model of psychosocial care that casts a net wide enough to capture the broad spectrum of needs cancer survivors and caregivers will encounter throughout the cancer continuum.

- TWC-Central Indiana hosted a reception on Friday, November 7, to welcome attendees to their brand new, state-of-the-art facility
- TWC-Redondo Beach and TWC-Central New Jersey were awarded The Wellness Community Quality Assurance Center of Excellence

Guest speakers at TWC's National Leadership Conference included:

- Eva Aldrich, MA, CFRE, Associate Director, Public Service and The Fund Raising School, The Center on Philanthropy at Indiana University
- Jessie Gruman, PhD, Founder and President, Center for the Advancement of Health
- Andrew Harner, LCSW, Coordinator, Indiana University Riley Children's Hospital Cancer Center

Thought Leader Summit to Examine Quality Standards of Care in Psychosocial Oncology

From October 20–21, 2008 The Wellness Community along with the American Psychosocial Oncology Society (APOS) hosted a groundbreaking Summit in Philadelphia. The Summit focused on implementing the recommendations of the October 2007 Institute of Medicine (IOM) report, “Cancer Care for the Whole Patient: Meeting Psychosocial Health Needs.”

For two days, leaders from psychosocial oncology, government, the pharmaceutical industry, health care insurance, oncology practices, and patient advocacy groups came together to discuss critical challenges facing those affected by cancer.

The objectives for the Summit included:

- Reviewing evidence presented within the IOM report outlining the evidence base related to the provision of psychosocial care for cancer patients, and how psychosocial care is currently provided across diverse settings
- Discussing the strengths and limitations of existing practices and identifying gaps in assessment, evaluation, and implementation
- Outlining a pilot study to examine which models of quality psychosocial care would integrate these services across health care systems

I felt privileged to work together with such a diverse group of experts to examine and brainstorm how to best implement the recommendations outlined in the IOM report.

The Wellness Community Awarded $1.7 Million Challenge Grant for the Research & Training Institute

On October 20, 2008, The Wellness Community announced the receipt of a $1.7 million matching grant from the National Philanthropic Trust (NPT) that will support the Institute's inaugural project. The project will work to:

- Establish a new National Breast Cancer Survey, Registry, and Index to connect those dealing with, and recovering from, breast cancer across the country
- The ultimate goal of the Institute's inaugural project will be to recommend strategies to create a seamless continuity of services throughout the course of treatment and afterward to overcome barriers that physicians experience in referring cancer patients to support programs and services

"Although laboratory research has been at the forefront of innovative psychosocial interventions for people with cancer, there are no large-scale delivery mechanisms for disseminating these types of research findings into the community. This Research & Training Institute will help bridge the gap."

TWC Launches Cancer Survivorship Research & Training Institute

During a Press Luncheon in Philadelphia on October 20, 2008, TWC officially announced its Cancer Survivorship Research & Training Institute. The Institute, which is set to open in 2010 in Philadelphia, will work to examine the critical role of social and emotional support for people affected by cancer and will study the distinctive needs of survivors and caregivers.

“Patient Empowerment in a New Era of Cancer: The Future is in our Hands” was the theme of the day, and more than 100 advocates, researchers, members of the media, and friends attended the celebratory luncheon. Featured guests included:

- Laura Schwanger, participant at TWC-Philadelphia and bronze medalist at the 2008 Paralympics in Beijing who shared her inspirational story of courage and triumph
- Philadelphia Mayor Michael A. Nutter who whole-heartedly endorsed the development of the Institute in Philadelphia

“The Institute will be a vibrant resource and destination for the cancer community at large—a place to conduct peer-reviewed research, sponsor patient and caregiver forums, host retreats, and direct state-of-the-art training programs for health care professionals. With more than 12 million cancer survivors in the United States and an estimated 1.4 million new cases in 2008, the demand for care that addresses quality of life issues continues to grow.”

As an organization, The Wellness Community values partnerships in our effort to provide gold standard support and education to people that have been touched by cancer. By working together, TWC along with its partners, are better able to address the critical and unique needs of cancer patients around the world. Some partners of The Wellness Community include:

- American Cancer Society
- American Lung Association
- C3
- Gilda's Club Worldwide
- Lance Armstrong Foundation
- Living Beyond Breast Cancer
- Lung Cancer Alliance
- Sister's Network

TWC and the Lance Armstrong Foundation Partner Together to Better Serve Cancer Survivors Across the U.S.

Cancer Transitions, Moving Beyond Treatment, formerly known as Live Well! Life Beyond Cancer, is a collaborative, evidence-based program developed between The Wellness Community and the Lance Armstrong Foundation (LAF) to help cancer survivors make the transition from active treatment to post-treatment care. Cancer Transitions is aimed to help fill the gap between cancer treatment and life following cancer. The six week program for survivors includes:

- Two-hour weekly education and support groups to address some of the challenges of survivorship
- Professionally-led exercise lessons to regain strength and incorporate physical activity into their lifestyle
- Nutrition classes to emphasize the importance of a healthy diet

TWC Joins Forces with Advocacy Partners to Stand Up to Cancer

On September, 5, 2008 The Wellness Community along with 50 other advocacy groups from around the country participated in the nationally televised fundraising initiative, Stand Up to Cancer. Money raised from the Stand Up to Cancer initiative went to accelerate ground-breaking cancer research. This unprecedented collaboration among major television networks, entertainment industry executives, celebrities and prominent leaders in cancer research and patient advocacy is designed to end cancer's reign as a leading cause of death.

- To date the Stand Up to Cancer initiative has raised more than $100 million
- Representatives from TWC-West LA, TWC-Greater Boston and the national office attended the live broadcast
- TWC continues to serve as a resource to visitors on the Stand Up to Cancer website, www.standup2cancer.org

The Wellness Community's International Network Program

The Wellness Community is pleased to announce that it is developing an innovative program to reach more people affected by cancer globally. Through a broader range of online and traditional capabilities, TWC is making a concerted effort to expand its international partnerships through a pilot project entitled The Wellness Community – International Network Program (TWC – INP).

As a result of the project, TWC has created an international training manual, Innovative Models of International Psychosocial Oncology Training, for psychosocial oncologists and other health care professionals. The manual provides the foundation of a psychosocial oncology curriculum with the goal of providing a seamless system of delivery with our international partners. TWC – INP includes collaborations in Canada, Ireland, Italy, and the United Kingdom.

- On April 16–17, 2008, TWC held its first training conference in Vancouver, British Columbia with our Canadian partners, British Columbia Cancer Agency and Hope & Cope of Montreal
- From June 3–4, 2008 the second conference was held at Maggie's Centre in London and included European partners, Maggie's Centre (UK), AIMac (Italy), University of Ferrara (Italy) and ARC (Ireland)

This project is made possible thanks to a charitable contribution from the Amgen Foundation
