

Preparing for Your Doctor's Visit

A WORKSHEET FOR PEOPLE WITH METASTATIC BREAST CANCER

If you have Metastatic Breast Cancer, complete this worksheet to help you talk with your health care team about symptoms, treatment options, side effects, and getting the emotional and practical support you need.

TIPS FOR TAKING CONTROL

- Know what kind of breast cancer you have and where in your body it spread.
- Ask your doctor about your cancer biomarkers. The key biomarkers for breast cancer are the hormones estrogen (ER) and progesterone (PR), and the protein HER2. Knowing which combination of these biomarkers you have can help you understand your treatment options.
- Take someone with you to appointments for support and an extra set of eyes and ears. If your loved one can't be there in person, consider trying a video call on your phone or computer.
- Ask questions until you understand what is being said. Ask for information in a different language or a different format. You can ask your doctor to draw you a picture or compare it to something you already know.
- Write down your questions before each doctor's visit. Keep a journal to take notes during your visit.
- Talk to your health care team or financial navigator about ways to manage treatment costs.
- Consider getting a second opinion. You can get a second opinion at any point.

Below are some of the things people with MBC may experience as shared by members of our Cancer Experience Registry. Think about how often they affect you. Talk to your health care team about how best to manage them.

	Rarely	Sometimes	All the Time
Fatigue, weakness, or falling
Joint pain, muscle aches, or cramps
Difficulty thinking clearly or remembering
Feeling anxious, overwhelmed, or depressed
Nausea, diarrhea, vomiting, or mouth sores

How often are cancer or side effects interfering with your life?	Rarely	Sometimes	All the Time
Work/school/home (unable to go to work/school or do daily tasks)
Unable to do activities I normally enjoy, such as traveling
Confidence/self-image
Sleep
Social relationships
Sexual relationships
Eating and/or exercise
Others:

THINK ABOUT YOUR TREATMENT & PERSONAL GOALS

When you talk to your doctor about your treatment options, ask about the goals of the treatment and how each treatment might affect the goals that you have for your life. If you choose not to receive treatment, think about your goals for the care that you receive. Possible goals may be to live as long and as well as possible, contribute to progress by taking part in research, make it to a special event/milestone, or find cutting edge treatments. Let your health care team know about your treatment and personal goals.

Physical Health and Well-Being	What is most important for you to be able to do?
Family and Social Relationships	What's going on in the lives of others that is important to you?
Work/School	Do you want or need to continue working? Can you adjust your schedule or responsibilities?
Community/ Involvement	Are you getting the support you need from your community? Are you able to stay active/ involved in your community?
Other	What else is important to you?

PREPARING FOR YOUR NEXT HEALTH CARE VISIT

If you are feeling either better or worse today than at your last appointment, let your health care team know what has changed.

Write down your concerns before each doctor's visit. Below are some suggested questions. Concentrate on the issues that are most important to you.

- Can you explain my test results to me?
- Are there any other tests I should be having right now?
- What side effects might I expect, and how can I prepare for them?
- What side effects should I let you know about?
- The symptoms and side-effects that are affecting me the most are: [fill in your answers from page 1].
- These are interfering in my life in the following ways [fill in your answers from the top of page 2].
- What can we do to manage these symptoms?
- Could palliative care help manage my symptoms and side effects? Can you refer me to a palliative care specialist?
- My top goals for treatment are: [fill in your answers from the bottom of page 2]
- Is the treatment that I am currently on the best treatment for me to meet these goals?
- What other treatments are available to me? Are there any new treatments or clinical trials that may be right for me?
- Are there treatments or drugs that work as well but would cost me less?
- How can I manage treatment costs? Is there a financial navigator that I can talk with?
- What's the best way to get in touch with you during office hours and after hours/on weekends?

GETTING SUPPORT

Think about people in your life who can help. It might be your spouse or partner, adult children, friends, faith community, support group, or co-workers. Make a list of the specific ways each of them can help (childcare, meal prep, housework, transportation, laundry, etc.). Consider using MyLifeLine.org to help you stay organized and let friends know what you need. Ask your health care team about resources for social, emotional, physical, and practical support.

If you search for information online, make sure that you are using trusted websites. Turn to the back page for a listing of trusted organizations. CSC and many of these organizations have helplines, online discussion boards, and more ways to seek support from others who have MBC.

FINANCIAL RESOURCES

Even with health insurance, treatment is expensive. Keeping up with costs can be overwhelming. However, there are many resources that can help. Talk with your health care team and your pharmacist about the cost of your treatment. Ask your doctor to refer you to an oncology social worker, financial counselor, or nonprofit organization for help managing the financial issues and costs. Ask if there are prescription assistance programs that can help cover all or part of the cost of your medications. The more you know about your specific treatment plan, the more you can help to reduce unexpected costs.
