Letter from our

Board Chair

Since joining CSC's board in 2018, I have witnessed the commitment to innovation that permeates CSC's work every day to deliver on our mission to uplift and strengthen people living with cancer. We pioneered professionally-led group support, something that had not previously existed for cancer patients. Today, you still find our support groups meeting in person, but also virtually. In addition, people can find support through discussion forums in our digital community. Wherever people gather, you will find CSC.

CSC is not new to innovative thinking.
Our very founding over 40 years ago was an important innovation in patient care.

Our innovations are not limited to where we deliver support, though. It's our approach to how we deliver that support, too. Today, our Cancer Support Helpline utilizes proactive navigation, a system where the navigator and patient or caregiver work together to assess their needs and create a plan for intervention. Our Helpline team then follows up to ensure that we are providing the right resources at the right time.

Data shows that navigation involvement helps, and Medicare has started to pay for patient navigation. But not all patients who need or could benefit from navigators have access to these services. CSC and other patient advocacy groups are filling this gap.

That's why we have also pursued partnerships with technology companies so that we can reach even more impacted people, with a focus on those who are medically under-resourced and disproportionately impacted. Our resources and services are now reaching people online, on mobile devices, and in apps.

Partnering with tech companies is just one part of our response to the White House's Cancer Moonshot call for initiatives to reduce the deadly impact of cancer and improve the patient experience throughout the cancer continuum.

Another is serving as a founding member of CancerX, a public-private partnership created to harness the full power of innovation to achieve the goals of the Cancer Moonshot. Participating members include tech giants Amazon Web Services, Oracle, and Insight, premier cancer research centers, and leading patient organizations. I'm proud to share that our CEO, Sally Werner, serves on Cancer X's 12-member steering committee.

As I look toward CSC's future, I'm excited and energized by the thoughtfulness, dedication, and compassion that is this organization's DNA. Your support makes it possible for CSC to reach even more cancer patients, survivors, caregivers, and their loved ones with support and navigation services, social connections, and award-winning education — when, where, and how they prefer. Thank you for your unwavering generosity. Together, we will continue to innovate in service of those who need us at what might be the darkest time in their lives.

NETWORK PARTNERS

I came to CSC through Gilda's Club when my sister Joyce was diagnosed with non-small cell lung cancer in 2015. She lived in LA and I was in NY and felt alone. I could share about self-care, doctors, and the latest treatments and provide resources for my niece.

Finding Inspiration, Knowledge, and Friendship at our Network Partner Locations

Through our signature program and innovations, we continue to meet the growing need and demand for cancer support. While our impact is strong, we strive to be the first call, first visit, first shoulder for all those in need. And we are focused on ensuring we are providing the right services at the right time.

HELPLINE

When we do our work with folks, they are so grateful. That's what keeps us going...when we can hear that the impact has been positive for people going through such a tough time. We hear directly from patients about the things that are happening in their lives and then share their stories with legislators and others working to effect change.

DIGITAL INNOVATION

We leverage technology and forge partnerships to make it easier and faster for patients, cancer care providers, and caregivers to manage care and treatment, engage in self-care, and improve well-being. And we are committed to seeking solutions that bridge the digital divide so that all people coping with a cancer diagnosis can access support and programs anytime and anywhere.

NEW DIGITAL PLATFORM WILL ENGAGE AND SUPPORT HISTORICALLY UNDER-RESOURCED MULTIPLE MYELOMA PATIENTS

Building on the partnership with Equiva Health, we secured funding to launch MyMyelomaSupport, a digital platform designed to deliver a wide range of services, resources, and tools to multiple myeloma patients with a focus on reaching medically underserved communities. After patients engage in a health-related social needs screening, eligible users will be offered a tablet with broadband access at no cost. Healthcare systems such as City of Hope, Karmanos Cancer Institute, and Simon Cancer Center will also work alongside our Helpline to offer telehealth second opinions with a multiple myeloma specialist.

We are preparing to pilot this program with our network partners and cancer centers in:

- California
- Indiana
- Michigan

CSC PLATFORM'S REAL-TIME DATA HAS IMPROVED CARE FOR OVER 23,000 PATIENTS & CAREGIVERS TO DATE

MyCareReport is a digital mental health assessment and referral platform that connects patients and caregivers to resources while also providing real-time reporting and analytics to their care team. Doctors, social workers, navigators, and health workers obtain valuable information that allows them to rapidly respond to their patients and caregivers' unmet needs and barriers to care.

CSC TECHNOLOGY IS DEPLOYED TO HELP ADDRESS CHILDREN'S MENTAL AND PHYSICAL NEEDS

In 2023, the Checking IN program screened nearly 1,000 patients across Levine Children's outpatient clinics. Checking IN is an evidence-informed digital distress screening solution for children with medical conditions. This questionnaire developed by NIH's NCI and NIMH combined with technology developed by CSC allows medical providers to learn new information about their patients that they otherwise may not have known and even adjust their treatment or care plan to meet the patient's needs.

Based on the results of those patient screenings, the Checking IN team found that 72.7% of patients expressed concern with one or more behavioral and/or social factors.

INTERVENTIONS ON MOBILE DEVICES

CSC piloted two different 12-week app-based mental health interventions for cancer patients who were experiencing depression or anxiety. These programs, developed by Meru Health and Blue Note Therapeutics, teach patients behavioral and mindfulness techniques. Patients using both apps showed a reduction in anxiety and depression. We have learned a great deal from both pilots. Using digital platforms to deliver stress management programs is a promising area that we will continue to pursue.

EDUCATION AND PROGRAMS

A person's mental health is critical to their overall well-being. This is especially true for someone who is dealing with or caring for someone with a chronic illness such as cancer. It is essential that patients and caregivers understand the importance of prioritizing their mental health and that healthcare providers understand the needs and barriers their patients may be experiencing.

Rachel Saks, MSS, LSW, OSW-C

Senior Director, Education and Programs

KNOWLEDGE—WHEN, WHERE, AND HOW YOU WANT IT

We know that people like to engage with resources in different ways and often have questions regarding unmet mental health concerns. That's why we include coping strategies and resources in many of our programs and materials. In late 2022 and 2023, we produced a suite of resources for mental health and cancer that inform and inspire, including a factsheet and discussion tool, a webinar, and "Spotlight on Mental Health," a multi-part blog series.

In 2022 and 2023, our education materials have:

YOUNG ADULT CANCER NEEDS ARE DIFFERENT.

SO IS OUR SUPPORT.

The Cancer Transitions: Moving Beyond Treatment® for Young Adults program is designed to address the unique needs of young adult cancer survivors.

The four-week intensive program is facilitated by an experienced psychosocial professional and includes high-quality, culturally-relevant, and medically-accurate psychosocial education, in addition to robust social support. The program was piloted in one Gilda's Club and two CSC locations in the spring of 2024 and fully launched for use among our healthcare and network partners in mid-2024.

CAREGIVERS NEED CARE TOO

Being a caregiver to someone diagnosed with cancer can be a juggling act. Roles, responsibilities, and commitments that were in place before cancer don't just go away. The new ones might include managing schedules, medications, doctor's appointments, contacts, resources, insurance, bills, and more. CSC hosted an in-depth webinar series offering practical information and strategies to help navigate the different caregiver roles and prioritize well-being while caring for a loved one.

INCREASING DIVERSE CLINICAL TRIAL PARTICIPATION

Our Peer Clinical Trials Support Program is moving the needle in the right direction. The Program matches Black and African American cancer patients, survivors, and previvors with a Black or African American cancer patient or survivor who's participated in a cancer clinical trial. The pilot had 581 applicants of which 124 were successfully matched with a peer specialist for the free Program. They were paired with trained Peer Specialists who provided one-on-one practical and emotional support along with resource navigation.

After completing the Program:

97% had a positive perception of clinical trials

100% reported that their overall clinical trial knowledge increased

54% were extremely likely to participate in a clinical trial

Justified Medical Mistrust, our six-part series, sheds light on medical mistrust in Black and African American communities and its impact on diversity in cancer clinical trials. The film series is one of multiple interlocking efforts we have undertaken to improve diverse participation in cancer clinical trials by helping patients make informed decisions about their care.

TRIBAL OUTREACH AND SUPPORT

We continue to engage with American Indian/Alaskan Native communities to better understand their needs and effective means of service delivery. CSC initiated and CSC Arizona continues to help provide cancer patients and their loved ones support, navigation, and education at the first full-time cancer center on an American Indian Reservation, Tuba City Regional Health Care Corporation's Specialty Care Center on the Navajo Nation. Additionally, Indian Family Health Clinic in Great Falls, MT, is a network partner, offering CSC's services to American Indians facing cancer living outside of reservations in Montana.

LEVERAGING TECHNOLOGY TO REACH UNDERSERVED COMMUNITIES

In partnership with Equiva Health, we are bringing an innovative model of care to underserved communities across rural and urban settings. Eligible participants can access CSC's validated distress screening, support and referral services, educational resources, and more in their homes via pre-loaded Wi-Fi-enabled tablets.

In 2022 and 2023, individuals were also offered assistance enrolling in the Affordable Connectivity Program (ACP) which provided qualified households with discounted broadband service. To date, we are unaware of any other ACP program like this in the healthcare sector.

Pilot programs in partnership with:

- Gilda's Club Minnesota
- CSC Arizona, with services for Hopi Tribe and Navajo Nation
- CSC at Breckinridge Health
- CSC Los Angeles
- CSC San Francisco Bay Area

We're proud to be the first of several CSC network partners to embrace this novel program to grow community and to deliver social and emotional support to those who otherwise may not have access.

NEVER HEARD OF CANCER CACHEXIA? HERE'S WHY IT MATTERS.

Cancer cachexia can lead to unintentional loss of weight and muscle mass. It is often misunderstood and under-diagnosed. It can occur in up to 80% of people with advanced cancer and is thought to contribute to up to 30% of cancer deaths. CSC is committed to shedding light on this condition and considered the leading patient advocacy group on this topic globally. Our research has fueled multiple resources including a lexicon, a set of meaningful terms for effective conversations, and a guide to use them. These resources are intended help patients, caregivers, and medical providers.

A CLOSER LOOK AT PSYCHOSOCIAL SUPPORT NEEDS IN HISTORICALLY UNDERSERVED AND UNDER-RESOURCED COMMUNITIES

We know that Black and African American, Spanish-speaking Hispanic and Latino, and rural communities experience barriers to care, but if we don't know exactly what they are, we will fail to bring about meaningful improvements.

We conducted a needs landscape analysis to learn from patients and survivors what their unmet needs are and learned that insurance and financial resources, support with logistical barriers to care, and, notably, providers and programming that reflect their experiences and perspectives are all areas of opportunity.

We have shared our findings among our network and healthcare system partners to ensure that practitioners committed to improving the experiences of patients and families may take immediate and purposeful action.

EXPLORING BARRIERS TO ACCESSING MENTAL HEALTH CARE

We undertook a survey of 600+ U.S. cancer patients and survivors with self-identified emotional or mental health concerns with support from BeiGene. The survey revealed that, although emotional distress is prevalent among cancer patients across the cancer continuum and many have pre-existing vulnerabilities, 60% were not referred to a mental health professional by their cancer care team.

Of note, although 58% of respondents received care from a mental health professional, and 48% percent were prescribed depression or anxiety medication, many respondents wanted other services and activities to help reduce distress and improve emotional well-being. This underlines the value and importance of resources and services offered at CSC and its network partners.

KEEPING PATIENTS AT THE CENTER OF THE INFLATION REDUCTION ACT (IRA)

At CSC, we advocate strongly for policies that support individuals' ability to afford, access, and adhere to lifesaving and life-enhancing care. And we work tirelessly to advance measures that increase access to prescription drugs and lower their cost. In August 2022, the landmark Inflation Reduction Act (IRA) was signed into law. The IRA requires the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) to negotiate prices for certain drugs covered under Medicare through the Medicare Drug Price Negotiation Program (MDPNP).

In September 2023, CSC convened patient and caregiver advocates, healthcare providers, policy experts, healthcare innovators, and thought leaders for a summit on creating patient-centered policy by amplifying patient voices in IRA drug price negotiations. In response to the summit, CSC led the creation of a sign-on letter. We also published an article in the Journal of Managed Care & Specialty Pharmacy (JMCP) that promotes a roadmap of patient-centered principles to guide and inform engagement with CMS and other policymakers throughout implementation of the MDPNP while investigating the possible consequences on patient access, utilization management practices, and R&D innovation. The article further explores what CMS can do to monitor for and mitigate negative effects.

THE BEAR FUND

After our child's diagnosis I had to take leave from work to take care of him and handle appointments, medicine, and daily care. Our family chose to use The Bear Fund grant to assist us in purchasing groceries. The Bear Fund grant was truly a blessing to receive, and it gave us the opportunity to not worry about how we could afford to feed our family for a time.

THE BEAR FUND REACHES MAJOR MILESTONES

In the fall of 2019, Nick and Heather Baker's youngest child Barrett ("Bear") was diagnosed with hepatoblastoma, a rare liver cancer. Bear endured over two years of chemotherapy and eight surgeries, including a liver transplant, to help him reach remission. His resiliency is a source of inspiration for the family and their legion of friends.

In 2021, Nick and Heather joined with CSC to establish The Bear Fund to provide navigation services and financial assistance so every child can Fight Cancer Like a Bear. Participating facilities are Children's Hospital Los Angeles, Phoenix Children's Hospital, and Cincinnati Children's.

Vision

Everyone impacted by cancer receives the support they want and need throughout their experience.

Mission

CSC uplifts and strengthens people impacted by cancer by providing support, fostering compassionate communities, and breaking down barriers to care.
